Recent Styles in Hair.

"What a lovely curly bang your little girl has!" said a young mother, whose own child's hair was of the most uncompromising straightness and who stopped in the street to admire, half enviously, the golden aureole of fluffy hair that framed in the rosy face of her friend's small daughter in the most becoming manner. "Yes," said the fond parent complacently, "isn't it pretty? It came from Paris sewed into her little cap."

"You do not mean to say it is false?" exclaimed the other, quite horrified. "Why, yes," she answered, "it looks pretty, and what harm is it?"

Nevertheless the incongruity between an innocent child and false hair is obvious. The latest absurdity in this line is a bathing cap (also Parisian), from which peeps a fringe of naturally curly hair that clings in the most becoming rings, however wet, but it would be awkward to lose such a cap, and it behooves the wearer to fasten it very securely.

This combination of outdoor headgear and becoming tresses seems to be popular this year, for one enterprising milliner has introduced hair which she matches in color to order in various ways with her concoctions. One hat, which she calls a "wind hat," has soft, short, wavy locks attached which might defy Boreas to render unbecoming, and a pretty little bonnet has a crown of golden plaits that is warranted never to become disarranged.

But here is a verdict from a rather particular man of the world, which doubtless expresses the views of many: "There is something positively obnoxious to me about false hair," he affirms. "I had rather see a woman paint, and that is bad enough—ten times over—but to know that that soft, curly stuff may come from some 'dear dead woman,' as Browning says, absolutely makes one shudder."—New York Tribune.

One Way of Spending Summer.

There is a certain back yard up town on the west side where three pretty girls are having more fun these summer evenings than half of their friends can boast of at the summer resorts. It is just an ordinary back yard, with a narrow flower bed bordering the fence and a big grass plot, but it boasts of one good sized poplar tree, and the moonbeams sitting through its silvery leaves send elfin lights all over the pretty faces that happen to be beneath.

The girls have fastened two hammocks from the tree to the fence, and in these two of them swing away the summer evenings, while the third reclines in a willow rocker. Then there are camp stools and a couple of big easy chairs, which are occupied nightly by the willing slaves of the two. They swing the hammocks, flutter the fans, hold ices and tell stories to the fair listeners. The houses having a view of this arcadia are closed for the summer, so that the merry laughter and cooling drinks gurgling uninterruptedly.

The breath of the sweet peas and heliotrope in their narrow beds floats up to the whispering poplar tree, and through the tangle of dancing leaves the moonbeams fall upon the sparkling eyes of the pretty girls and make them ten thousand times more fascinating than their sisters at the country or seashore. The men think so, at any rate, but perhaps it is the novelty of the paradise in this hot and dusty city where they have been left to toil away the summer days.

Anyway, the girls are having a good time, and probably the harvest moon will shine down upon three hands that will each own one ring more than they might have secured had their owners left their winter bean to brave it out alone in town throughout the summer.

Wood Carving for Young Women.

Wood carving has become a very fashionable industry. Some beautiful pieces of work done by society girls were recently seen. It is rather a curious accomplishment to be desired or excelled in by the class of women who are accused of doing everything for effect. It is extremely laborious and confining; it is not piazza or morning room work, and when it is done it is simply a piece of amateur work not to be compared with 99 per cent. of the rest of the household furniture. An oak table, handsomely carved by a young woman, was among the presents the Princess Louise received. An oval mirror center made it something of a novelty in its line.—New York Times

The Newport Girl.

Travel to farthest India, climb the Himalayas, penetrate Baltimore or Brooklyn, visit Trouville, Coney Island or Asbury Park, and then for the pride and perfection of girlhood you must return to Newport. There is a final shade of excellence that makes Newport young women superior to their sisters in the less holy summer resorts. It is an "air." They have a genius for being lovely that is entirely separate from their physique. They wear their hats, they pose their chins, they droop their eyelashes with a daintiness that is too evanescent in its quality to describe.

The opaline lights on a dove's neck are not more hovering and exquisite than the suggestions of great beauty made by the accidental movements of the Newport girl. There are many of them that have not a remarkable line from their noses to their insteps, and yet even these move with that "air" which makes a princess and finds an excuse for the coronet.—Cor. PROVIDENTIAL POLITICS.

The New York Mail and Express is one of those theological journals that mingles its politics and piety after the puritanical style of the seventeenth century. It still clings to the mossbacked doctrine of special Providences, in support of which it makes the following modest assertion:

"No good man since 1860 has doubted that heaven is on the side of the Republican party in this country."

"Heaven enabled that party to save the country, to introduce specie payments, to scatter plenty through the land by means of the wage-workers' protective tariff, and do many other blessed things which they could not have done, owing to the opposition of the Democrats, except for the blessing of heaven."

The ungodly person who shapes the course of the Salt Lake Herald is apparently of those who believe that Providence generally "favors the strongest battalions," for he cruelly calls the attention of the sanctified contemporary to some of the dreadfully disagreeable things that Heaven, through its humble instrument, the Democracy, assisted by their brethren of the Farmers' Alliance, did last Fall.

"It tore the living out of Republicanism in Illinois, and elected John M. Palmer to the Senate. It placed a dynamite bomb under old man Evans, blew him to kingdom come and elected a Democratic legislature in New York, right under the pious and reticent nose of Colonel Shepard, editor of the aforesaid M. and E. It fixed the Wisconsin legislature so as to elect Vilas to the Upper House of Congress. It elected a lot of Democratic Governors, and put thousands of Democrats into public office as Sheriffs, County and Circuit Clerks, Collectors, Treasurers, Coroners and so on."

"But Heaven did not stop here. Assisted as above, as with a besom of destruction of a Dakota cyclone, it swept the Republican party in Congress almost off the face of the earth, picking out for special objects of punishment the most conspicuous members and those who had served the devil with the greatest alacrity."

"Yet let the whole truth be known. Whilst Heaven and the Democracy and the associated farmers were fighting this great battle, they used the Republican ammunition. Reed, Cannon, McKinley, Lodge, Sherman, Hoar and a dozen others loaded the Parrot guns and mitrailleurs with which the Republican ranks were decimated."

"The force bill, the prohibitive tariff, the silver legislation, the pension laws, the ship subsidies and other outrageous measures, capped by Reed's tyranny, made it an easy job for the allied forces to carry the country."

Providence seems to have played the zealous New Yorker a scurvy trick in going over to the enemy, and unless his faith is more firmly rooted than is usual in this day and generation he will join with his worldly brethren and put his chief reliance in "blocks of fire" and in the oleaginous lubricator fried from reluctant corporations.

NEW GOLD AND SILVER EXTRACTION PROCESS.

Mr. John Cunningham Montgomerie, of Dalmore, Ayrshire, in conjunction with Mr. Henry Parkes, of London, have discovered a process for the extraction of gold and silver from the refractory gold and silver sulphide ores of the Champion mines, in the Thames district of New Zealand. These ores are well known to be of very refractory nature, and all the processes now in use have failed to treat them satisfactorily. The best results that have been obtained in former trials were by a process which took sixteen hours in treatment, with an extracting power of from eighty-five to eighty-seven per cent. of gold, and from seventy-two to eighty-six per cent. of silver. During the past few months Mr. Montgomerie has personally carried out a large number of experiments at his "Tam o' Shanter" Home Works on this ore, with the result that he has reduced the time for treatment from sixteen hours to four hours, and with an extracting power of from ninety-five to ninety-nine per cent. of gold, and from ninety to ninety-five per cent. of silver.

From trials on two special grades of the Champion sulphide ores, the following results have been obtained without the ore being calcined: Ore assaying 1 oz. 1 dwt. 11 grains gold, and 39 oz. 4 dwts. 21 grains silver, 98 per cent. of the gold and 98½ per cent. of the silver were extracted; and from ore assaying 2 oz. 9 dwts. gold, and 59 oz. 19 dwts. 7 grains silver, as high as 99.63 per cent. of the gold, and 95.39 per cent. of the silver have been taken out. In working out the best method for the treatment of these ores a number of valuable data have been arrived at, whereby the ore can be brought to yield up its precious metals, and some of these are specially adapted for certain refractory ores other than those of the type of the Champion ores. It is believed that one or other of the processes which have been discovered will treat a wide range of the various ores which are now but indifferently treated, and those of a slightly refractory nature may be treated easily with the highest results. Those having mines with ores requiring investigation as to treatment should communicate with Mr. Montgomerie.—Ex.

DR. WELTI OF GLARUS.

The President of the Swiss Republic in its Six Hundredth Year.

The chief official personage of Switzerland is Dr. Welti, of Glarus, President of the "Bundes-rath" or Federal Council of the Swiss Republic. It must be very interesting for Americans to know something of the methods of the Executive of a Government that has been a republic since 1291. The Swiss President's authority does not resemble that of a President of the United States or a President of the French Republic. The Swiss President is a comparatively unimportant office, yet the Swiss claim that theirs is a freer Government than ours. The Swiss Constitution vests the supreme executive power in the Bundes-rath collectively, which consists of seven members appointed for three years by the General Assembly. To the Federal Councilors severally are allotted the different departments, namely, the Foreign Office, the Home Office, Department of Justice, the Army, the Finance and Customs, the Department of Agriculture, Manufactures and Trade and the Postoffice and Railroads Department. The President and Vice President, elected for one year only and not re-eligible for the second year, do not appoint or control these Ministers or Councilors, but carry out the decrees of the Council as nominal heads of the confederation during their term of office. They have a voice in deliberating on its policy, but less real power than the Prime Minister of a kingdom with Parliamentary government. The President receives a salary of $3,000 a year. The Federal Parliament consists of a Senate and a House of Representatives. The Senate is composed of two members from each canton, and the lower house has 147 members, who are directly elected on the basis of one representative for 20,000 of population. Many of the cantons have also their own Legislature for domestic affairs. In several cantons every new law or measure of government must be submitted to the direct vote of the people assembled for the occasion. There are twenty-two cantons in Switzerland, with a population of 3,000,000.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Nevada's Wild Fruit.

We are indebted to Mrs. S. L. Cohoon and Miss Ollie Davis for a glass of Nevada jelly, made of Buffalo berries. The Catholic Congress.

Copyright 1891, New York Associated Press, Special to the Journal.

BERLIN, September 5.—The Catholic Congress, which opened on Sunday and held its closing session yesterday, assumed an unexpected importance. Over 1,000 delegates were in attendance. A resolution was adopted declaring that the time had arrived to convene the great International Catholic Congress for the consideration of the question of restoration of temporal power to the Pope, and a committee was appointed to arrange for holding such congress. In discussing the question of neutral ground for a place for the meeting of the proposed congress, Switzerland was most in favor. Delegates will be summoned from every Catholic community in the world. The question of the restoration of temporal power to the Pope will be treated, not as an Italian question, but as one of universal concern.

Weather Predictions.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—The Signal Service says: Fog and clouds will continue along the entire coast, especially on the northwest and southwest coast of California, extending into the valleys of that State. The cloud formation will be considerable in the mountain districts with local rains in southern California and Nevada and northern Arizona. Fog and clouds have been sufficiently heavy to give rise to occasional light rains in the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys and along the southwest and northwest coasts of California. Mountain rains have occurred in California, Nevada and Arizona. The following precipitations have been reported from regular stations: San Francisco, trace; Red Bluff, .02 inches; Sacramento, .06; Carson City, trace; Fresno, trace; Los Angeles, trace; Barstow, 6; Peach Springs, Arizona, light rain.

Chilean Affairs.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—Whether or not the Congressional Junta has been recognized as the de facto government of Chile cannot be officially learned at the Department of State, as the acting Secretary refuses to make any statement whatever on the subject. Nevertheless there is a good reason to believe that acting upon Minister Egan's information that the authority of Junta is supreme in Chile he has, as already predicted, been directed to open relations with them. If there has been any question as to the proper treatment of refugees aboard the United States war ships it has been decided by Admiral Brown. He cabled to-day that the Baltimore left yesterday for Peru taking away twenty refugees whose lives were not safe in Chile.

Failure of M. J. Flavin & Co.

Flavin & Co., by the Sather Bank of this city to which an overdraft of twenty-two thousand five hundred dollars is owing by the firm. The liabilities of the firm it is stated amount to between $80,000 and $85,000, of which about $15,000 is due eastern creditors. The firm claims to have assets of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars and claim to be perfectly solvent.

Special to the Journal.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., September 5.—A local paper says the authorized announcement of the marriage of Gertrude Potter, of Chicago, daughter of the millionaire iron man, to F. The bride gained no little notoriety on account of an early love affair with a Chicago new-boy.

Rain Storms.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—The first rain of the season fell to-day in the coast counties of California and in some parts of the central valleys. At no point was the precipitation great and no damage was done to grape or other crops. The Weather Bureau indications point generally to unsettled weather for the coast, with occasional showers in the valleys of this State.

Change in the Fire Department.

Special to the Journal.

Fitzpatrick was exonerated by the Coroner's jury.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. "Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Heartburn

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." Theo. Winters was in town yesterday. He is making arrangements to bring his stable of horses and his brood mares and colts over from Sacramento. He thinks he can raise harder and better colts here than in the Sacramento Valley, and is going to try the experiment. He should be encouraged.

THE TRAIN ROBBERY.

As Told By the Express Messenger.
Assistant Messenger Charles of Wells, Fargo & Co., who was in the express car with W. W. Reed when the attack was made on it by the desperate highway robbers, was interviewed this morning and made the following statement:
"Our train was stopped at Ceres to let off passengers bound for that place. After they had got off the train was started and had gone about one mile when it was again stopped.
"Just after the train came to a standstill some person came to the door of the express car and called upon us to open it. Of course we did not expect a 'hold up,' and consequently all of us were taken off our guard somewhat. We thought the demand to open the door had been made by the baggage master of the train.
"Messenger Reed, however, ordered that the lights in the car be lowered, and before I hardly had time to execute the order, a bomb was thrown against the door of the car and an explosion followed which blew a hole in the side and almost completely wrecked the entire car.
"The robbers then placed another bomb through the hole in the side of the car, but the lighted fuse was pulled out and the second bomb did not explode. If it had the car would have been entirely demolished.
"It was the robbers themselves who withdrew the burning fuse, and after they had done so they ordered Fireman Wallace to enter the car and turn up the lights. Messenger Reed told the fireman not to turn up the lights, and he also ordered the fireman to get out of the car.
"At this stage the firing commenced on the outside, and the fireman retired in good order. The attack then ceased, and the robbers, of whom there were two, took Engineer Neff and the fireman a short distance up the road, where their horses had been tied.
"The engineer and fireman were then ordered back to the train, and as they turned to go the robbers mounted their horses and rode swiftly away into the darkness.
"The engineer and fireman returned to the train and we did not see any more of the robbers.
HARRIS TELLS HIS STORY.
He says: "When the train was being held up by the robbers at the express car I jumped from the train, crossing over the fence and making a circle to the spot where the robbers were standing. Then I opened fire on them five or six times, and while shooting was shot down. The robbers located me by the flash of my pistol. Before leaving the train I begged the officers or any body to come with me. None would volunteer. I went alone. I could locate the robbers only, and having but a pistol was at a disadvantage. If I had had a shotgun I could have dropped one of the robbers sure. While I was shooting the robbers circled me, finally locating me from the flash of my pistol and dropping me. I could do no more. The robbers then decamped. I think there were only two of them."
Every attention is being rendered the wounded man, whose bravery saved the train from robbery and possibly the loss of lives.
His condition is favorable and his physicians say that no immediate danger is apprehended.
ON THE TRAIL OF THE ROBBERS.
Nothing yet has been heard from the pursuing parties. The robbers had only three bombs, one of which was pushed inside the express car through the hole made by the second bomb, but fortunately it did not explode. The pursuers are said to be close on the track of the robbers.
FOLLOWING THE TRACK OF TWO HORSEMEN.
Sheriff Cunningham of San Joaquin and posse got on the track of two horsemen this morning near the scene of the attempted train robbery and are following it. The trail leads in a southwesterly direction toward Crow's Landing, Stanislaus county. A large party is in pursuit.

THE SMALLPOX FORTRESS AT CARSON.

The Commander-in-Chief Surrenders the Fort and Returns to Reno.
J. T. Burge (old Jim) returned yesterday from the Indian School at Carson, where he has been sojourning for twenty-seven days as head nurse at the quarantine of the small pox patients, Pegleg, Washoe George and Jewett Adams, aged respectively seventeen and nineteen years. The old-timer was assisted by Mahala Sallis Jewett, and was lord of the domain, even floating over his unfortified castle three different banners at a time to the breeze. A white standard signified a call for water; red, that meat was required, and the combination of red, white and blue, that his excellency-in-chief, Mr. Gibson, was required to attend a council of war, at a hundred paces distance. No attempt was at any time made to capture the beleaguered fortress, people invariably passing to windward of it at a very respectable distance. Mr. Burge is loud in his praises of the care shown by Mr. Gibson toward himself and his charges, everything asked for by the nurses being furnished without demur. Before leaving, the premises were most thoroughly fumigated. Uncle Jim put in a bill for daily service of $6 per diem, and got it, too, showing that the old-timers are as shrewd and capable of surmounting Uncle Sam's everlasting red tape as they are in bringing that delicate flavor and golden brown color to a dish of pork and beans that makes the mouths of Bostonians water with envy. He also was the recipient of a fine suit of clothes extra, in token of appreciation.

A tough known as "Big Jeff" hit a man named Ferguson over the bridge of the nose yesterday, in one of the saloons, making a bad break from which the surgeon extracted a large piece of bone. The man is in a precarious condition and "Big Jeff" has shipped. The town is afflicted with more "toughs" and disorder now than for years past and the officers scarcely attempt to preserve order, to the extent that women and children may be respected on the streets. A vigilance committee is needed.

Talbot—Beck.
Cards have recently been received in this city announcing the marriage of Judge Geo. F. Talbot, of the Nevada District Court, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Beck at Napa Valley, Cal., August 20, 1890.
Miss Beck was one of Nevada's prettiest and whitest school teachers. She was Assistant Principal of the Virginia High School for nearly seven years and was always loved and respected by her pupils and esteemed by all who knew her. The public lost an excellent teacher in Miss Beck, but Judge Talbot has gained a most worthy wife. Their future home is to be at Elko, Nevada.

WHY DO MEN SUICIDE?
NEARLY ALL METHODS OF SELF MURDER HAVE BEEN TRIED.
Suicide Among the Greeks and Romans. Few Negroes Have Ever Taken Their Own Life—Reasons of One Man for Having Taken to Himself the Fatal Coil.
A prominent physician who has made a study of suicide said the other day: "Why should a man kill himself? The popular answer is, 'Because he is crazy!' Scientific men easily disprove that, but are still somewhat at sea in devising a better answer. Was the philosopher Seneca crazy when he entered the warm bath and opened his veins? Were all the hundreds of Romans who made happy dispatch of themselves insane? Surely not.
The Greeks rarely committed suicide, but at one time it was quite the fashion in Rome. It is the rarest of rarities for a slave to commit suicide, though a slave owner often does. Extensive inquiry fails to develop a single case of an American negro's committing suicide, though there have been a few cases among mulattos and octoroons.
Shall it be said, then, that the superior race is the suicidal? Surely not, for the Greeks were at least the equals of the Romans. The solution must be sought elsewhere.
Perhaps religious belief has something to do with it, but it would be hard to prove it. One fact, however, gives us a clew. Among the lowest races of mankind and in the lowest intellectual grades of any society suicide is practically unknown, and among the highest in race or culture it is extremely rare, while in the middle or lower middle classes it is most common.
STRANGE REASONS FOR THE ACT.
It is those who are midway on the course, whether as races or individuals, those who are in the struggle, who lose heart and rush unbidden into eternity. This is only another way of saying that where the battle is fiercest there are the most wounds and sudden deaths; those who have won the victory and those lying idle in camp and designing no struggle are fairly well satisfied with the situation. The cultured and well-to-do Philadelphians, on the whole, as willing to live as the naked Senegambians.
The causes assigned for suicide are to the last degree curious. In many cases well-to-do suicides simply allege that they are tired of life—the monotony of it is too much for them. An English gentleman left a note to the effect that he was tired of "coming in and going out, laying down and getting up, buttoning and unbuttoning."
A London cabman wrote that he had exhausted all the pleasure of driving in this world and wanted to see how they drove in the other. Strange to say, love and poverty furnish the smallest number of cases, and mere bodily suffering the greatest.
But the saddest cases are those in which a whole family die together, and of these the Salford case, which occurred some years ago, was the most mournful of all.
SALFORD'S COLD BLOODED DEED.
Salford was a druggist's assistant, threatened with the loss of position and poverty. He succeeded in gaining his wife's consent, as his letter said, that the "whole family should go together," but she did not want to know when the fatal dose was given. So he gave her and the youngest child prussic acid in a cooling drink as they lay down for the night, and in a few minutes they expired without pain: One by one he disposed of the other five children in the same way—"all in peace and without pain, thank God," he wrote.
He then drew up his will, went out and obtained the signature of witnesses, returned and wrote four letters, and then swallowed the poison, and was soon a corpse. Such a case is beyond analysis by a healthful mind. Yet we cannot say it was insanity.
It is scarcely possible to conceive of any method of suicide not already employed by some one, but whenever one strikes a novel method he is sure to have a host of imitators. Hanging, drowning, poisoning, stabbing, or other forms of cutting, shooting and jumping from high places are most common.
Many women have swallowed hot coals, powdered glass and other destructive articles. Cleopatra applied an asp to her bosom, and it is worth noting that she has no imitators. Women have a horror of serpents, and they are not easily obtained at the time desired.
France leads all other nations in suicides, as in the last year for which we have the record 216 persons killed themselves, each 1,000,000 of the population, and the increase is rapid. Of 7,572 suicides in one year one-fifth were in Paris, and suffering by charcoal fumes is the favorite method. In London nearly all suicides are with the knife and razor, and it is plain truth that in this respect the British are the worst "cutthroats" in Europe.—Chicago Tribune.
